WAKING UP THE WRONG PASSENGER.

One day last week the three-card nonte thieves met with a little surprise over at Battle Mountain, and from a mong the passengers on the West bound train who alighted they selected the wrong one for a victim. The story is thus told by the Virginia Enterprise:

"The other day, at Battle Mountain, they (the monte sharps) allured a German from the east, who exhibited a large roll of greenbacks on the platform into the spider's net. The 'drunken money on every bet. The German declined to bet, and to get him in the notion one of the cappers gave him a twenty dollar piece on which to try his luck. He placed it on a card and won. Pocketing the $40 he refused to bet again, and walked out of the house, followed by the cappers, who insisted on getting the money back. The German drew a large-sized revolver from his pocket, and assuming a defiant attitude

"You speak to me I put you so tam full of holes you don't know what you am. I am an old Californian, and know all about your tam tricks. You take me for an emigrant you make fools mit yourselves.'

A MODEST MAN CONFUSED.

A correspondent tells a capital story on the poet Whittier, who is as modest as he is gifted. He was in Chicago, and went to hear the Rev. E. H. Chapin speak a lecture somewhere up town The clergyman was eloquent as usual, his discourse interlarded with highly wrought passages of rhetoric, closing with a stirring poetical quotation, so well delivered that the Quaker bard applauded with the rest. Some one sit ting next to him inquired,-

"Do you know, Mr. Whittier, who is the author of this extratet?"

"No, I do not. It sounds familiar, and I like the sentiment." "Why, the lines are yours, Mr. Whittier. You must remember them. They are from your famous anti-slavery ode. 'So they are," said Whittier, after a little reflection, and blushing like a school-girl caught reading her first loveletter. "I really did not recall them. Indeed, they sound so much better than they ever sounded before, that it is not strange I failed to recognize them.'

The poet, though thoroughly sincere did not recover for some time from the Colle, Depression of Spirits, SOUR STOM- did not recover for some time from the ACH, Heart Burn, etc., etc.

Showing Her Love.

A singular story of jealousy and revenge comes from Sicily. A beautiful young girl named Florina, who was the belle of a traveling circus, in which she figured as the lion-tamer, had been for an athlete belonging to the same troupe By some means she ascertained that he was not faithful to her, but had another lady-love. No signs, however, of her painful discovery were allowed to escape. She still smiled sweetly upon him. In her own bosom she planned the terrible revenge. One evening, when Florina had whipped the lions and forced them to her feet—she called her recent lover aside and said to him:

"Ob you still love me?"

"Always," he answered.

"Do you know that I should die if you should devote yourself to another woman?"

"What an idea!" responded the young man.

"But I should first kill you," said Florina.

"And how would you do that?"

"Thus!" cried the girl, at the same instant pushing him violently into the gaze of the lions.

They attacked the unfortunate man and tore him to pieces, while Florina urged them on with blows of her whip.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The folowing was issued this afternoon by the President of the United States:

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, Objects of interest to the United States require that the Senate should be convened at 11 o'clock on the 5th day of March next to receive and act upon such communicatious as may be made to it on the part of the executive. Now, therefore, I Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, having considered it to be my duty to issue this, my proclamation, declaring that an extraordinary occasion requires the Senate of the United States to convene for the transaction of business at the Capitol in the city of Washington on the 5th day of March next, at 12 o'clock noon on that day. All who shall at that time be entitle to act as members of that body, are hereby required to take notice.

Given under my hand, and the seal of the United States, at Washington, the seventeenth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-ninth. By the President, U. S. GRANT, HAMILTON FISH, Sec'y. of State.

The test was on the proposition of Mr. Morrill, of Maine, to postpone its consideration, to take up the appropriation bills; and, this giving rise to debate, he out it short by moving to table the Pinchback resolution, and it was carried by 39 to 22, being a majority of a full senate. Of the New York, February 18.-In the Republicans who voted for the motion voted to take up the appropriation bill in accordance with the decision of the caucus to give bills of this character precedence. There was considerable strength on the Republican side for the proposition of Mr. Edmunds to provide for a new election in Louisi ana, and many Democrats would have voted for instructions to the committee to prepare a bill to accomplish this end. To expedite further action in regard to Louisiana will be a subject of caucus consideration

CINCINNATI, Feb. 18.—Caperton, who was yesterday elected United States Senator from West Virginia, was member of the Confederate Congress in 1863. He is now about sixty years old; was born in Monroe county, Vu., Tilton to deny the story against his and graduated at Yale college in 1832.

Desperate ends require desperate means. And the Bureau clerks proceed to illustrate their proposition by resorting to some "desperate" falsehoods to favor their "desperate ends." Much of it has already done duty in the columns of the local Bourbon organ of this city.
